

(This eloquent tribute to a dog was made during the trial of a man who had shot a neighbor's four-year-old dog. Senator Vest asked $100 damages, but after two minutes' deliberation the jury awarded $300.)

"Gentlemen of the Jury: A man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we live with in our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to blow the stone of malice when failure comes. It is laid upon heads. The one absolute unfriendly friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog."

"Gentlemen of the Jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the friendless and homeless, the faithful dog goes with him, or privilege than that of a nation,panning him to guard against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death."

Satisfied With Doctor's Decision

Chicago, Aug. 23—(UPI)—Mrs. Irene Lamphere said today she was "perfectly satisfied" with the decision of six medical experts who decided that her 22-month-old daughter, Pamela, should be operated upon within two months.

Pamela and her parents became the center of a conflicting storm of public opinion when Judge Walter O'Malley began hearing the divorce suit Mrs. Lamphere, 21, filed against Pamela's father, Fred, 23.

The couple had quarreled over Pamela's rare ailment. She was born with her bladder outside her body and inverted. The Lampheres doctors told them the condition had to be corrected or the baby would die before she was five.

But, they said, there was only a small chance she would survive the operation.

Lamphere wanted the baby operated upon by Mrs. Lamphere was against it. They quarreled so bitterly over the matter that they finally separated.

In the divorce suit, both wanted custody of Pamela. That meant that Judge O'Malley had the responsibility of deciding whether she should go to the father, and undergo the operation, or to the mother, who would not risk it.

O'Malley called six prominent doctors who examined the child for 30 minutes yesterday and reached a unanimous verdict.

They said surgery should be completed in three stages to remove the exterior appendage of the involved bladder. Dr. Karl Meyer, of the Mayo and Cook County medical superintendent, gave the medical a good chance for recovery.

"The odds will be no more than ninety per cent in the child's favor," he said.

"Twenty-five years ago it would have been hopeless. But with the life-saving drugs we now have, the mortality rate is reduced to a minimum of two per cent."

Meyer said Pamela was normal and healthy in every other respect. He said the child's odd waddling gait would be corrected to "a considerable extent" by the operation.

He said the parents were free to take the child to any doctor or hospital they desired for the operation and the offered their services to the county hospital.

Mrs. Lamphere said she hoped the surgery could not be put off until October, so Pam can play in the sun all summer.

As her parents and their lawyers talked to the doctors after the examination, Pamela ran from one to the other and cast loving looks at both as though she were trying to get them together again.

But Mrs. Lamphere reiterated that she would never go back to her husband. Her lawyer indicated, however, that there was some hope of a reconciliation "after the operation and when things settle down a bit."

Democrats Say GOP to Sponsor Sales Tax Bill

By JOSEPH NOLAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Democratic campaign headquarters charged today that Republicans plan to push through a federal sales tax if they retain control of Congress in the November elections.

Republican tax leaders were not immediately available for comment.

Democratic National chairman J. Howard McGrath said in a statement that the "lavish" income tax reduction voted by the GOP 80th was "forcing" the government to operate in the red. And he said, Republicans who sponsored the cut are thinking of a sales tax to get more revenue. "They are not likely to insult their rich campaign contributors by suggesting the raising of income taxes," McGrath said. He named Chairman Harold Knutson, R. Minn., of the House ways and means Committee as one who was thinking of a federal sales tax.

The brain always wins where brawn fails," Mrs. Witt said.

Brain Always Wins Out Over Brawn

New York, Aug. 23—(UPI)—A crowd of men worked for 15 minutes trying to free 2 1/2 year-old Patricia Teeter, who had caught her head between the bars of an iron fence. One tried prying the bars with a crowbar. Another used an auto jack in an effort to spread them apart.

Police sent for an emergency truck with acetylene torches.

Then Mrs. Lee Wit, a middle aged school teacher, appeared on the scene. She calmly walked through the crowd, turned the little girl sideways and pushed her all the way through the bars.

"The brain always wins where brawn fails," Mrs. Witt said.

Purge Started on Anti-Tito Communists

Belgrade, Aug. 23 (UPI)—Reliable reports said today that 50 members of the Yugoslav secret police were among hundreds of persons arrested in a widespread purge of all anti-Tito Communists in the country.

The purge began in Montenegro after four members of the Montenegro government were dismissed Aug. 4 and since then has spread to all parts of the country, the reports said.

It was understood that all 5,000 members of the Ozan, Marshal Tito's secret police, are involved in running down and arresting Communists suspected of being sympathetic to the Communists. In the campaign. His 1948 running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California will be equally active in the campaign.

It was believed, however, that the Communists had been discussed but the task of writing the address had not yet begun.

Mr. Truman, who is now on a nine-day cruise aboard the yacht Williamsburg, held several shipboard conferences with his advisers on the Labor Day speech he will deliver in Detroit. White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the subject matter had been discussed but that the task of writing the address had not yet begun.

White-Moore
Wedding
Sunday Afternoon

The late Summer wedding of Mrs. Bally Jane Whitlow, only daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Whitlow, 503 South Harvey street, and Jewell V. Moore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel V. Moore, Sr., 193 East Second street, was on August 27 from 4 to 6 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

The beautiful double ring ceremony was solemnized by the bride's father, the Rev. Mr. Whitlow, pastor of the church, before a background of floor baskets of white lilies, white stock and fern over the Baptistry and the choir rail was banked with cherry laurel. Four seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers lighted the ritual scene.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins, organist, played streamers of pink ribbon.

Mr. Moore's best man was Foy Hammmons, Jr. Groomsmen were: Jack Bell and Fielding Huddleston. Ushers were: Donald Moore, Norman Moore and Richard Moore, brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Whitlow, mother of the bride, wore a smoke gray crepe dress with black accessories, and her flowers were a corsage of white tube roses.

Mrs. Moore, mother of the groom, wore a pink crepe dress with brown accessories, and a shoulder corsage of blue tube roses.

Mrs. Moore, mother of the bride, was attired in navy with black accessories, and Mrs. Mary Pouless, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of white linen with black accessories.

The candles were lighted by John David Whitlow, brother of the bride, and Van Moore, nephew of the groom. They wore double-breasted suits of white linen.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, the Rev. John P. Whitlow, of Portland, Ark., was gowned in white marquisette with a net yoke edged with Chantilly lace, and a gathered skirt inset with lace ending in a conventional train, and her sleeves tapered to points over hands. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a corsage of orange blossoms. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Her bouquet was a colonial shower effect of vanda orchids centered with a large orchid.

Mrs. Fielding Huddleston, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, Miss Carolyn Sue Sutton, maid of honor, and Miss Martha Sue Moore of Arkadelphia, bridesmaid, wore identical dresses of shell pink marquisette over taffeta fashioned with a satin inset waist and round yoke, brachet-length sleeves, and gathered skirt flowing over hoop. Their headresses were halos of pink net which were caught up with a bandage of flowers.

The matron of honor and bridesmaid carried colonial bouquets of Pinocchio roses mingled with blue ribbon and tied with blue satin ribbon. The maid of honor carried a colonial bouquet of blue tube roses mingled with pink carnation and Hervey street. Supper was served from a T-shaped table in the back yard, the table being covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a low bowl of mixed flowers, those assisting in serving were: Mrs. Seena Gibson, Mrs. Henry Haynes, Mrs. Perry Moses and Miss Eugenia Pouless.

Covers were laid for the following: Miss Betty Whitlow and Jewell V. Moore, Jr., Miss Carolyn Sue Sutton, Foy Hammmons, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Huddleston, Miss Martha Sue Moore, Jack Bell, Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins, Miss John A. D. Brannan, The Rev. Mr. Whitlow, Dick Moore, Norman Moore and Donald Moore, John David Whitlow and Van Moore.

Seventy-five guests called during the afternoon. Out of town guests were Mrs. Alvin Hardin and Mrs. Walter Tate of Custer, Mrs. C. Stuart of Hope, Mrs. Shirley Jones, Mrs. Monte of Dallas, Texas and Mrs. Duane Martin of Alexandra, Virginia.

In the midst of it Mrs. Pitton's low-pitched voice came up to them from the passage.

"I don't think there'd be any objection," she was saying, "so long as she takes nothing out of the room."

"Did you know she had got into it?" demanded Aunt Effie.

"Yes, I knew," said the housekeeper.

"You should have told me at once," scolded Aunt Effie. "I could have put a stop to it."

"I was willing to take the responsibility," she said and went away.

But Aunt Effie was not. She ordered Sabrina to close the door at once and come down.

Sabrina obeyed quickly, but the next afternoon, while Aunt Effie was in town for some shopping, Sabrina set her square little jaw and went to the top floor room.

So with Father still in ignorance, Aunt Effie decided, and Mrs. Pitton looking the other way, she visits to the secret sanctuary confided, until she knew the room and its visible contents by heart.

Sometimes it almost seemed as though she knew its owner, too.

Sometimes it was almost as though he himself was there in the room waiting for her to come back to him.

"I'm afraid I picked the lock," confessed Sabrina. "With a hairpin and a buttonhook."

Miss Ida Catherine Daniel, bride-elect of Charles Crittenton Stuart of Hope was favored on Thursday with a tea given by Mrs. Sidney Loomis and Mrs. John Hubbard at the home of Mrs. Loomis.

Mrs. Lera Johnson greeted the guests at the door and invited them into the living room which was decorated with arrangements of white lilies and multi-colored dahlia.

Receiving were Mrs. Loomis, Mrs. Hubbard, Miss Daniel, Mrs. N. N. Daniel, mother of the groom-elect and mother of the bride, Mrs. C. G. Stuart, mother of the bride-elect and Misses Rebecca and Bernice Daniel, sisters of the bride.

Miss Jackie Hale and Miss Ida Loomis invited the guests into the dining room.

The tea table was lovely with a yellow linen cloth overlaid with white net and caught at intervals with yellow roses.

The central arrangement was of yellow garden lilies flanked with crystal holders.

Receiving were Mrs. Loomis, Mrs. Hubbard, Miss Daniel, Mrs. C. G. Stuart, mother of the bride-elect and Misses Rebecca and Bernice Daniel, sisters of the bride.

Miss Jackie Hale and Miss Ida Loomis assisted in the dining room.

Seventy-five guests called during the afternoon. Out of town guests were Mrs. Alvin Hardin and Mrs. Walter Tate of Custer, Mrs. C. Stuart of Hope, Mrs. Shirley Jones, Mrs. Monte of Dallas, Texas and Mrs. Duane Martin of Alexandra, Virginia.

In the midst of it Mrs. Pitton's low-pitched voice came up to them from the passage.

"I don't think there'd be any objection," she was saying, "so long as she takes nothing out of the room."

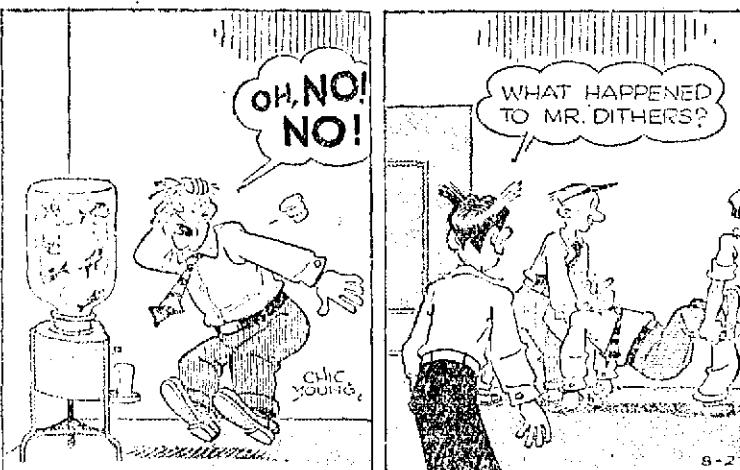

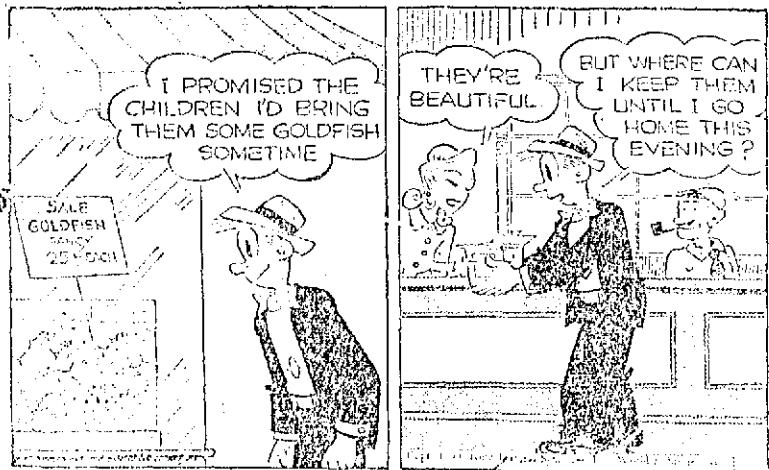

"Did you know she had got into it?" demanded Aunt Effie.

"Yes, I knew," said the housekeeper.

"You should have told me at once," scolded Aunt Effie. "I could have put a stop to it."

"I was willing to take the responsibility," she said and went

Favored Teams Win in State Softball Play

Little Rock, Aug. 21 — (AP) Favored teams remained in the winners' circle of the Arkansas state softball tournament today.

The defending champion Worthen Bankers Little Rock, won their second game of the meet yesterday by shutting out Progress Cutlery of Fort Smith, 7-0.

Last year's runner-up, Root Petroleum Company of El Dorado, defeated the Arkabu team of Fort Smith 7-5 for its second triumph.
